

NATIVE NONPROFIT DAY

GIVING INITIATIVE

MAY 20, 2022

Native-led organizations have the solutions to the issues our communities are facing.

We know our strengths and are best positioned to help our people. There is important work happening every day, with much of it led by Native nonprofits. Unfortunately, our organizations face systemic funding inequities, making it harder to implement Native-led solutions.

This needs to change.

NATIVE NONPROFIT DAY GIVING CAMPAIGN

Flexible, unrestricted, multi-year funding is necessary to implement Native-led solutions.

We're participating in Native Nonprofit Day, an annual giving campaign that aims to raise awareness of the importance of investing in Native-led nonprofits!

You can support our mission by sharing our posts and donating throughout May!

We're dedicating May to uplifting Native-led nonprofits!

We encourage our followers to learn more about Native-controlled organizations and consider contributing to their important work.

Support Native-led solutions.
Support equity.

Many Native-led nonprofits are dedicated to revitalizing our traditional lifeways.

Support Native-led.
Honor our histories.
Support our futures.

Why equitable funding to Native-led nonprofits matters

A recent report by the Center for Effective Philanthropy highlighted that while Native communities have been disproportionately affected by the COVID-19 pandemic, Native-serving nonprofits have not seen an increase in foundation funding.

With one in every 168 Native children having lost a caregiver between April 2020 and June 2021, supporting Native nonprofits is more important than ever. Despite this, almost two-thirds of foundation leaders reported providing little to no grant funding to Native-serving nonprofits.

Native-led nonprofits are systemically underfunded.

According to a Center for Effective Philanthropy report, nearly two-thirds of foundation leaders say they provide little or no funding to organizations serving Native communities.

Native Nonprofit Day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the powerful work being done by Native-controlled nonprofits every day.
